

I am a big boy. I know how to use the potty. I have underpants with skateboards on them.

My little sister is still a baby.
She wears diapers.

I like to play with my sister.
But sometimes she smells funny and
Mom has to change
her diapers.

One day Mom said,
"It's time for Little Sister to use a potty."

I thought that was a good idea.

We went to the store to get a potty chair for my sister. Mom picked out a pink one.

NO POTTY,
ICE CREAM!

When we got home, my little sister wanted to carry the new potty inside by herself.

But she wouldn't sit on it. She cried instead.

Mom said,
"She's scared."
I knew that.

So I sat on the potty first. Then my sister wasn't scared anymore.

I got her a book to read. Then she didn't want to get off the potty at all.

Mom took the
potty downstairs
so my sister
could sit on it
while she watched TV.

That was weird.

My sister sat on her potty
while she ate dinner.

Later she sat her
doll on the potty.

---

She tried to sit my monkey on it,
but I wouldn't let her.

That night my sister slept with
the potty
beside her bed.

In the morning, Mom sat
my little sister on the
potty without her diaper.

My sister read her book.
Then she used the potty.

Mom hugged
her while she was still sitting
on the potty,
but I didn't.

Then Mom put
new underpants
on my little sister.
"You look so
cute," Mom said.

I didn't think she looked
any cuter than me.

We played in the sandbox. I noticed that some of the sand was wet, so I called Mom.

While Mom was doing laundry,
my little sister said,

Mom asked me
to take her.

My sister missed the potty and got the floor wet. We called Mom.

The next time my little sister went
to the potty, she
did it just right.

We were proud of her.

Now that my little sister can use the potty, Mom and Dad
say she is a big girl.

But I think
she still acts
like a baby.
Sometimes.
